

NEW TECHNOLOGY

In the 1920's many new technologies were introduced that would change the world to this day. Electrical appliances started to appear in the average person's house. The radio made a drastic change on every person. Automobiles had the biggest impact on everyone. Talkies were considered a new entertainment and a new technology. Today we still use all the inventions that the Roaring Twenties are thanked for.

If you would look in your house you would see a fridge and washing machine, if you were in the 1920's you would see the same things but it would be some of the first ones ever made back then. Every house would even have a radio for family's to listen to for either bad or good news. Instead of sitting inside all day after work people would get out and go see the new technology called Talkies, movies with sound. Automobiles was the biggest advancement in the 1920's it allowed people to go places, quicker and more efficiently. Ford perfected the auto industry and made them cheap enough for the average person to buy. Today we will use the technologies that the 1920's are responsible for everyday.
